

FEED THE FUTURE

The U.S. Government's Global Hunger and Food Security Initiative

Feed the Future Country Fact Sheet

Online Version: <https://www.feedthefuture.gov/article/partnering-reduce-global-hunger-and-promote-food-security>

Partnering To Reduce Global Hunger and Promote Food Security

Earlier this week, Vice President Biden and Secretary Clinton joined World Food Program USA in honoring Howard G. Buffett and Bill Gates for their contributions to reducing global hunger through the Partnerships for Progress (P4P) program.

Together with the World Food Program (WFP), the Gates Foundation and Buffett Foundation helped launch P4P, a public-private partnership which buys local food in low income countries to use as food aid, benefiting both families in need and nearby farmers.

During his keynote remarks, Vice President Biden highlighted additional public-private partnerships that are contributing to global efforts to reduce hunger and promote food security.

Read the full post on the U.S. Department of State DipNote blog